Sub: Special Invitation for Poultry Workshop LED Lighting on 5th October 2016
at Pragati Maidan, New Delhi

Date: 01.09.2016

Dear Sir/Madam,

We are pleased to inform you that ELCOMA, an apex body of lighting manufacturers in India, is organizing Light India 2016 in cooperation with Messe Frankfurt, with Special focus on Smart Lighting for Smart Cities.

We have undertaken a research through our International association ISA (International Solid State Lighting Association) about efficient and healthy breeding of poultry birds through LED lighting. The research is astonishing as the results have revealed that with change in color and intensity of light, the moods of birds change substantially with the result the birds grow healthy and lay at least 15 to 20% more eggs in a year. To demonstrate the result and to promote this technology, we have decided to hold a half day workshop on 5th October 2016, at Pragati Maidan during Light India 16 exhibition. This will give you an opportunity to an exposure in this new technology in Poultry segment.

You being an important stake holder in poultry farming and play an important role in birds conservation and development, are invited to attend the Conference. There is no fee for Poultry Delegates. Just fill the Registration form and send it to us per return. Due to restricted seating of only 50 delegates, the registration will be done on priority basis.

In case you may feel that some other officials from your organization is also required to attend the workshop, you may also forward this invitation to him/her for doing the needful.
